Holi, a celebration of spring's arrival and the triumph of good over evil, unites people, encouraging them to set aside their differences and share the joy of throwing bright powders up into the air. Guided by the festive spirit, lwin volunteers traveled across India, distributing gifts to the country's most densely populated neighborhoods and communities, transforming bustling streets into colorful celebrations. The initiative also received enthusiastic support from Indian bloggers and media personalities, amplifying its reach.

Influencers Kanika Sharma and Dhirendra Chauhan Rajput, who participated in lwin's charitable donations, shared their thoughts on the celebration, “Holi is not just about playing; it is about giving. This time, we thought, why not celebrate Holi with those around us who need a little color of happiness in their lives. Even a small effort can create a big joy. Because we care, we share.”

Through this initiative, lwin helped make Holi more inclusive, enabling thousands to take part in the celebration and share the festive spirit. As the Holi colors settle, the spirit of togetherness and generosity fostered by lwin will continue to inspire.
