Hari Bhoomi is a renowned daily newspaper that has been serving the readers of North and Central India since its establishment on 5th September 1996. What started as a weekly Hindi language newspaper soon gained popularity and was converted into a daily newspaper in November 1997. The newspaper initially began its journey with the Hari Bhoomi 'Rohtak' edition, focusing on news from the state of Haryana.

As the popularity of Hari Bhoomi grew, the media group expanded its reach to cover more regions. In April 1998, the 'Delhi' edition was introduced to cover news from the capital city of India and the National Capital Region (NCR), including Faridabad and Gurgaon. This expansion allowed the newspaper to cater to a wider audience and provide them with relevant and timely news updates.

In March 2001, Hari Bhoomi entered Chhattisgarh with the introduction of the Bilaspur Edition. This move was followed by the establishment of an office in Bilaspur in June 2002 and the launch of the Raipur Edition. With the Raipur Edition, Hari Bhoomi further expanded its coverage to include parts of Orissa, ensuring that readers in these regions also had access to quality news reporting.

The year 2008 marked another milestone for Hari Bhoomi with the introduction of the Jabalpur Edition in Madhya Pradesh. This expansion allowed the newspaper to reach out to the readers in Jabalpur and surrounding areas, providing them with reliable news coverage. Later that same year, the Raigarh Edition was launched in Chhattisgarh, further strengthening Hari Bhoomi's presence in the state.

Abhimanyu Sindhu, the founding proprietor, and editor-in-chief, has played a pivotal role in shaping Hari Bhoomi into the trusted newspaper it is today. With his vision and leadership, Hari Bhoomi has become a go-to source for news and information for readers across North and Central India. Under his guidance, the newspaper has maintained its commitment to delivering accurate, unbiased, and relevant news to its readers.

Kulbir Chhikara, the group editor, has also contributed significantly to the success of Hari Bhoomi. With his expertise and experience in journalism, Chhikara ensures that the newspaper upholds the highest standards of reporting and adheres to journalistic ethics. Together, Sindhu and Chhikara have built a strong team of journalists and reporters who work diligently to bring the latest news and stories to the readers.

Hari Bhoomi's dedication to providing comprehensive news coverage, from local events to national and international affairs, has earned it the trust and loyalty of its readers. The newspaper's commitment to journalistic integrity and its focus on delivering news that matters have made it a reliable source of information in the region.

Whether you are interested in politics, sports, entertainment, or any other topic, Hari Bhoomi covers a wide range of subjects to cater to the diverse interests of its readers. The newspaper strives to keep its readers well-informed and engaged with in-depth articles, interviews, and analysis.

In conclusion, Hari Bhoomi has established itself as a respected and trusted newspaper in North and Central India. With its extensive coverage, dedicated team of journalists, and commitment to delivering accurate and relevant news, Hari Bhoomi continues to be the go-to source for millions of readers in the region.
