Veer Kunwar Singh University, established on 22 October 1992, holds a special place in the hearts of the people of Bihar. Named after Kunwar Singh, a revered national hero and a prominent freedom fighter during the Indian Rebellion of 1857, the university is a testament to his legacy and the spirit of patriotism he embodied.

Located in Arrah, Veer Kunwar Singh University was founded under the Bihar University Act 1976, with an amendment in Act 9 of 1992. Since its inception, the university has been committed to providing quality education and promoting academic excellence in the region.

A Legacy of Courage and Sacrifice

Kunwar Singh, the inspiration behind the university's name, played a pivotal role in the fight against British colonial rule. Born in 1777 in Jagdishpur, Bihar, he grew up witnessing the injustices and oppression inflicted upon his fellow countrymen. Determined to bring about change, he actively participated in the struggle for independence.

During the Indian Rebellion of 1857, Kunwar Singh emerged as a prominent leader, leading a fearless resistance against the British forces. His bravery and strategic military tactics earned him the respect and admiration of his comrades and adversaries alike.

Despite his advancing age, Kunwar Singh continued to fight with unwavering determination. He became a symbol of courage and resilience, inspiring countless others to join the cause for freedom. His legacy lives on, not only in the annals of history but also in the spirit of Veer Kunwar Singh University.
